INDUSTRIAL CODE URGED AS MEANS TO STOP STRIKES

Coal Commission Declares for Legal Remedy to Protect Public in Disputes.

CAPITAL AND LABOR MUST BOW TO NATION

Report Sets Up Skeleton of Principles on Which to Build Laws Covering New Field.

Washington, September 9.—Comparing the controversy in the coal situation to that over slavery just prior to the civil war, the United States coal commission declared in a report submitted to President Coolidge today that the national interest required establishment of a fixed code for settlement of this and other industrial disputes.

Regardless of the inherent rights possessed by both sides, the commission held, the necessity of coal to the general public makes it incumbent upon both operators and workers "to make some personal sacrifices in the interest of the commonwealth."

"The condition resembles the conflict between the definition in the declaration of independence concerning human rights, and the then clearly constitutional right of human slavery," the report said. "The great mass of those arrayed upon either side were unwilling to compromise or adjust. It was permitted to go on until the agony of a fraternal war solved the problem. It is to be hoped that we have learned wisdom by experience."

The outbreak at Herrin, Ill., in June, 1922, and the more recent disturbance in the West Virginia fields were cited as indicative of the serious aspect the general situation has taken. The commission reviewed the history of both cases in detail but declined to fix responsibility further than to say the serious results might be attributed to the intense passions which had been gradually fostered among the members of the two opposing camps, and to the attitude of the communities involved toward law and order.

While public officials at Herrin undoubtedly were lax in performing their duty, the report said, there was no evidence that the United Mine Workers foresaw the fatal consequences of the conflict between union and operator at that place.

"If industrial peace is to be hoped for," the commission said, "then some method must be found to guarantee, as near as fallible human judgment may, equally exact justice to capital, to labor and to the public. There must be one yardstick adopted by which all controverted questions are to be measured. Public interest demands that certain fixed principles shall be recognized by both capital and labor as this yardstick."

Declaring it would be better for the participants themselves to work out the exact terms of the code, the commission said:

"A message for you!" Expecting a communication of importance, these words have frequently caused you to seize the little envelope from the carrier's hands and eagerly read its contents.

The Constitution's Want Ad Section has a message for you. Perhaps it is from some business establishment which needs a person like you in its personnel, or perhaps it is from some repair company that can do the necessary work around your house.

Every day hundreds of persons are sending messages to each other—not only over the wires—but through the columns of The Constitution's Want Ad Section. Form NOW the habit of reading the want ads and of receiving those valuable messages.

BLAZING BROOMS IN U. S. TREASURY MENACE BUILDING

Washington, September 9.—Fire broke out in the treasury building to-night, bringing out all available fire fighting apparatus.

The blaze was discovered in a pile of brooms on the basement floor near the large vaults. It was brought under control in about ten minutes, although when the fire department arrived it had a good start. The damage was estimated at about $1,000.

ATLANTA WOMEN TO AID IN DRIVE FOR RELIEF FUND

Members of City Federation Will Take Up Collection on Streets of City Wednesday.

Following the appeal made in Atlanta churches to contribute liberally to the emergency relief for Japan, the Atlanta City Federation of Women's Clubs announced Sunday night that the association had pledged itself to support the efforts of the Red Cross organization to the fullest and that a collection day would be held on the streets of Atlanta Wednesday.

Members of the federation will be on the streets all day to gather in contributions to realize the total of $12,000, which has been set as the objective for this city. A list of the women who have volunteered for this work had not been completed Sunday night. The workers will be called to the offices of the chamber of commerce Tuesday at noon where they will receive their insignia and instructions for the drive.

The total receipts for Georgia toward the $20,000 objective was announced as $6,230 by William D. Taylor, director of public information of the Red Cross, Sunday night. This figure does not include collections made in the churches Sunday.

While no detailed statement as to the success of the appeal Sunday in Atlanta churches for Japanese relief will be given until the pastors report to Red Cross headquarters this morning, it is confidently expected that a promising beginning has been made toward realization of the city's quota of $12,000.

A computation made of funds already collected at the national headquarters of the Red Cross in Washington Saturday afternoon showed that the half-way mark had been exceeded by more than a million dollars. At that time no less than $2,200,000 was in hand, the southern division, in which Georgia is located, contributing $86,340.

Must Use All Efforts.

As the objective for the southern division is $250,000 it is clear that all efforts must be used during the coming week to make the south take her accustomed place among the leading sections of the United States for generosity and Christian humanitarian feeling.

Some of the cities have already exceeded their quota and others have doubled their objective. Among the latter are New York and Philadelphia. The goal for Georgia has been set at $80,000 and officials of the southern division are confident that this state will not lag behind her sister states in this worthy cause of bringing aid to the stricken people of Japan.

Although the immediate danger is now over on the islands of Nippon, there are new menaces which in horror and misery might even eclipse the terrors of the earthquake and the tidal waves. There is a scarcity of water in the great cities and there have been reports that cholera has broken out. This was to be foreseen. With the water system of Tokyo and Yokohama destroyed by the friction of the earth's layers, the people had to fall back on the use of the ancient wells, which scientists had described as reservoirs of stagnant water, laden with dangerous typhus germs and cholera bacilli. The waters in the muddy streams about the Japanese capital, choked with fast decomposing corpses, also have been used by the people, once their regular supply of water gave out.

World May Be Affected.

Although the great effort of America has been from the beginning one of unselfish charity and friendship for Japan, the relief measures will begin to take the form of precautionary measures against the spreading of the disease to our own shores. If the reports of the outbreak of cholera are correct, it may be possible that the whole world will feel the effects of the dual catastrophe in Nippon.

Bandages, medicine, surgical instruments, shiploads and tons of them, are needed in Japan. The Japanese Red Cross is one of the most efficient organizations, but the greatest efficiency and the greatest courage

DOG CARRIES HAND OF BOY TO HOUSE, REVEALS TRAGEDY

Two Youths Die on Track at Alma After Sleep Closes Eyes During All-Night Vigil.

BODIES ARE MANGLED BY FREIGHT WHEELS

Inquest to Be Held Today—Details of Death Are Veiled—Train Sped on Into Night.

Alma, Ga., September 9.—(Special.)—A dog with a human hand in its mouth revealed a double tragedy here this morning.

Luther and Estell Knowles, 17 and 15 years old, are dead, horribly mangled, as the result of being run over by a train after they had dropped to sleep on the track here early Sunday morning, their bodies being discovered by a dog, which carried the porch of one of the boys to the front porch of the man to whom the dog belonged, who lived near the railroad yards.

Search was instituted immediately after the dismembered portion of a human body had been seen in the dog's mouth by a young woman who lived in the house, and the bodies were discovered on the track.

It was believed that the boys, who lived on a farm near here and who had been sent to town to watch their father's car, which he had left for repairs, had become tired and had gone to sleep on the track. The accident was thought to have occurred between 12 and 1 o'clock Sunday morning, as the fast A. R. & A. Brunswick-Atlanta freight train passes through here at that time.

The boys had been in Alma during the afternoon Saturday, but had returned home Saturday evening. They returned at their father's instruction at about 11 o'clock Saturday night to watch the automobile.

An inquest over the bodies will be held Monday morning at 10 o'clock, a preliminary investigation having been made Sunday by the coroner. The bodies were then turned over to an undertaker for burial preparations.

Both bodies were bruised and mangled, although identification was made without trouble.

The train crew evidently knew nothing of the tragedy, for the train did not stop after the accident occurred.

NEW SCHOOL TERM TO BEGIN TODAY

Attendance Officers Will Make Every Effort to See That All Children of School Age Attend.

After nearly three months of holidays, of glorious afternoons at the old swimming hole, weeks spent out in the country, long hikes, picnics and a thousand and one wonderful joys, the youth of Atlanta returns to the feet of Minerva this morning. Shining faces, clean white collars, new dresses, new books, new teachers and new schools will be the thrills to take the place of the excitement of vacation days.

The enrollment for the schools totals 46,000 or 5,000 more than last year. A summing up of the school situation on Saturday by Willis A. Sutton, school superintendent, showed that the schools of Atlanta, will begin the new year with the best buildings, the best faculty and the greatest number of scholars in the history of the city.

In addition to the substantial increase in enrollment, four attendance officers will begin looking over the city for all youngsters between the ages of eight and fifteen, who are not enrolled. The terms of the state compulsory education law will be strictly enforced.

All the new elementary school buildings, with the exception of the Storr-Houston school for negroes will be opened on Monday morning. Eight of the buildings are entirely new, three have been rebuilt and the others have all undergone extensive repairs.

Woods Alive; Signed Cable To U.S. Sept. 7

Safety of Diplomat and His Wife Officially Confirmed.

London, September 9.—(By The Associated Press.)—A Reuter dispatch from Shanghai dated today, says that the report sent out from Osaka that Cyrus E. Woods, United States ambassador to Japan, and Mrs. Woods had been killed in the earthquake is incorrect.

The dispatch adds that it is officially announced that the ambassador and Mrs. Woods are safe and that the only casualty among the embassy staff was Miss Doris Babbitt, who was killed.

Osaka, September 9.—(By The Associated Press.)—American Ambassador Woods and all members of his staff and their families are safe except Miss Doris Babbitt, daughter of the acting commercial attaché, according to a message received here today. It was stated the ambassador is actively engaged in relief work.

FLOGGING CASES COME UP TODAY IN MACON COURT

Eight Men Scheduled to Come Before Tribunal During Week—Many Accusations Made.

Macon, Ga., September 9.—(By The Associated Press.)—Bibb county's effort to clean up a situation that has thrown the community into a turmoil for many months and that has resulted in a number of persons being severely flogged and some of them being driven out of Macon, tomorrow is slated to get its first airing in court. Trials of four of the eight men now facing charges of being implicated in various floggings are scheduled to be called in city court when it opens for the September term.

The cases of S. R. J. C. and C. F. Hudson, brothers, charged with attempting to whip Emory Roberts, a negro, are expected to be called shortly after court opens. The case of J. P. Alexander also is due to be called tomorrow.

Many Accusations.

The cases of the other four men including that of Dr. C. A. Yarbrough, a dentist, alleged to be the head of an organization conducting the series of floggings; J. E. Blodworth, a traveling salesman; J. D. Patrick, former deputy sheriff, and W. F. Delamar are on the docket to be called during the week.

A total of 29 accusations have been made against the eight. It is alleged that Dr. Yarbrough, Alexander, Delamar, Blodworth and Patrick are connected with one organization of which the dentist is alleged to be the "whipping boss," and that the Hudsons have no connection with the large group of floggings that preceded the effort to flog Emory Roberts.

Although the case of Alexander is set for hearing Monday it was indicated tonight that this case probably would not be called at the time. City Court Judge Will Gunn is distantly related to Alexander and for this reason tonight he had been unable to obtain any judge to sit in his place.

No New Developments.

Solicitor Ross Moore said tonight that the cases of the Hudsons would be taken up tomorrow if possible and that it was hoped to call the Yarbrough case on Tuesday.

The Hudsons will be represented in court tomorrow by John P. Ross and W. A. McClellan. Solicitor Moore will be assisted in the prosecution by P. H. Lamb.

Although the sheriff's office yesterday announced that other arrests were expected it was announced tonight that there had been no developments in the past 24 hours.

The charges on which the white men are to be tried are misdemeanors under the Georgia laws. For this reason they are to be tried in the city court instead of the circuit court.

FLAMING FLOOD FROM OIL BLAST FIRED YOKOHAMA

Ground Heaved and Swayed Like Waves of Sea, Toppling Houses Off Bluff.

SCENE RIVALS TALE OF BUDDHIST HADES

Early Estimates of Quake Death Toll Are Being Steadily Revised Downward.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
Shanghai, September 9.—At the first shock of the earthquake the great oil tanks on the hillside above the Yokosuka cable station exploded, and a mass of flames, the walls of the Nagoishi prison collapsed and five thousand convicts were released.

The most desperate of these sought to profit by looting and murdering the disabled. Hastily formed bodies of citizens, however, hunted out the miscreants and exacted a summary death penalty.

The American hospital is reported to have been hurled from the bluff to the cemetery below, tearing open the earth and exhuming the bodies of many of those interred there.

The stories of the earthquake as narrated by "eye-witnesses" depict scenes rivaling in horror the popular representations of the Buddhist hell.

Business men were about to leave their offices in Yokohama at the close of Saturday morning's work, when without warning, and with a tremendous roar the ground heaved up four or five feet and then dropped back again. Houses on the bluff were precipitated headlong into the city. The ground rocked, heaved and swayed like the waves of the sea. Fugitives fleeing from the falling buildings found their way blocked by huge gaping holes, some of them large enough to admit a horse and wagon.

Peril was added by the rising water from the water mains, which burst everywhere; this, with fire, blocked all the exits from the city. Hundreds sought to escape from a fiery death by rushing toward the Moto Machi canal, while some, who endeavored to cross on wooden lighters, were overtaken by blazing oil, which flowed from the exploded tanks, and met with terrible death. Still others, panic-stricken, flung themselves into the water and met an equally dreadful fate. The canal was soon choked with floating bodies. Many persons leaped into the sea in their frenzy to escape the deluge of red hot cinders from the blazing ruins.

TOKIO AND YOKOHAMA
DEATH TOTAL 75,000

Pekin, September 9.—(By The Associated Press.)—Semi-official dispatches from Japan state that estimates of Saturday's earthquake death toll are steadily being revised downward.

Wireless messages from the British warship dispatch, now in Yokohama, harbor, assert that only seventy foreigners were killed in that city, none in Tokio and three in Hakone.

The Osaka Asahi declares that the Tokio relief organization now estimates that thirty-five thousand were killed in Tokio and 140,000 injured. The metropolitan police, however, have not revised their estimate placing the Tokio dead at ten thousand and the injured at 100,000; the Yokohama dead at 30,000 to 40,000 and the injured at 140,000.

The Japanese legation here was informed today that the cable communication from Japan had been restored, also the domestic radio communication from Tokio.

CORPSES OF FOREIGNERS

Osaka, September 9.—(By The Associated Press.)—The latest report from Yokohama on the number of foreigners killed by earthquake and fire places the total at 200. The charred corpses have been gathered temporarily at the site of the Grand hotel for burial in the foreign cemetery at Yokohama, according to advices received here today.

NEW EARTHQUAKE SHOWS ON METERS AT GEORGETOWN U.

Washington, September 9.—An earthquake of moderate intensity was recorded between 5:32 and 6:40 p. m. today on the seismograph at Georgetown university. Father Torondoff, seismologist, said it was very difficult from the record to determine the distance of the disturbance, but he estimated it centered 2,300 or 2,400 miles from Washington. It had two periods of maximum intensity, at 6 and at 6:15 o'clock.

Strike Mediator Suggests That Coolidge Take Steps to Safeguard Consumers.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
Harrisburg, Pa., September 9.—Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania tonight made public a letter to President Coolidge suggesting that, with an anthracite coal supply assured for the coming winter as a result of the agreement reached by representatives of operators and miners here last night, steps be taken to safeguard the consumer against increased prices.

The governor proposed that the Interstate Commerce commission investigate coal transportation rates with a view to reducing them. He also told the president he was preparing to invite the governors and anthracite using states to go into the matter of margins and profits of wholesalers, brokers, jobbers and retailers with him.

Thanks President Coolidge.

Governor Pinchot at the outset of his letter to President Coolidge expressed thanks for a telegram of congratulations received from the president, but did not make public the text of the message.

The governor's letter to Mr. Coolidge follows:

"Dear Mr. President:

"Now that the danger of a strike in the anthracite field is disposed of for two years, I would like not only to thank you again for your telegram of congratulation but to express my very great appreciation of your public approval of the terms of settlement which I suggested, and of the very valuable information which was supplied to me by the United States coal commission at your direction.

Both miners and operators deserve great credit for their readiness to consider each other's interests.

AUGUST BUILDING SHOWS DECREASE

Southern Setback Is Temporary, Experts Declare. Memphis Leads With $2,138,890—Atlanta 6th.

Building in the leading cities of the sixteen southern states suffered a slight loss in August over August, 1922, according to figures compiled by the building survey department of G. L. Miller & Company, real estate bond house of this city. These figures show comparative figures are available show a decrease of slightly less than five per cent.

Those who are in close touch with construction records declare that the temporary setback suffered in August, which is the first month of the present year to fall below 1922 figures, does not indicate a slackening of the present building boom in the south. It is pointed out that this boom began in the middle of last year and was reaching previously unheard-of figures in August, 1922; so that it is considered a sign of a highly healthy condition that the past month should have so nearly equalled last year's figures.

Figures showing the official building permits of a hundred cities, indicate that Louisiana, Arkansas and Tennessee are building well above their 1922 program. Washington and Baltimore are also in excess of their previous marks. The southeast, however, where many large single structures swelled the totals of a year ago, has failed to meet these figures during the past month.

Memphis is well in the lead of southern cities, with a total of $2,138,890.

BARES RED PLOT TO SEIZE UNIONS AND SMASH U. S.

United Mine Workers Charge Moscow With Conspiracy to Invade America.

BORE FROM WITHIN IS COMMUNIST PLAN

Alleged Expose Goes Into Details, Giving Names of Men Said to Be Organizers.

New York, September 9.—The United Mine Workers of America today made public the first of a series of six articles charging that "red" forces under the direct supervision of Moscow are attempting to seize control of the organized labor movement of America and use it as the base from which to carry on the communist effort for the overthrow of the American government.

"Imported revolution is knocking at the door of the United Mine Workers of America and of the people of the United States and Canada," says the introductory article, which added that its disclosures are "the result of an independent, searching investigation by the miners' organization which led directly to original sources."

Through a revolutionary movement on the continent the communist international at Moscow has undertaken, according to the miners, to carry out the following program:

"Overthrow and destruction of the federal, state and provincial governments, with the elimination of existing constitutional forms and foundations.

"Establishment of a soviet dictatorship, absolute in its exercise of power, owing allegiance to only the communist or third international at Moscow.

"Destruction of all social, economic and political institutions as they exist at this time.

"Seizure of all labor unions, through a process of luring from within them, and utilizing them as a strategic instrument in fulfillment of their revolutionary designs upon organized and constitutional government.

"Invasion of the United Mine Workers of America, with the ouster of its present officials and leaders and the substitution of a leadership of communists.

Strike at Brotherhoods.

A well-organized movement is being promoted within the big four railroad brotherhoods and sixteen railroad trade unions to amalgamate all rail workers into one departmentalized industrial union, controlled by a single leader of communist principle and affiliation.

Seizure of the American Federation of Labor, with the ouster of its officials and, through such seizure, gaining control of its affiliated units and trade unions.

Conversion of all trade craft unions into single units of workers within an industry known as "industrial unions" with coordination under a super-soviet union owing allegiance to and accepting the mandates of the communist international and its subsidiary, the red trade union international at Moscow.

Through conquest and subjugation of the labor unions and conversion and mobilization of farmers and other related groups, the overthrow of existing institutions, and the creation of a condition similar to that which now prevails in Russia.

The article charges that a vast network of agencies for the dissemination of communist propaganda exists in the United States. This system, it is alleged, is a veritable network of interlocking directorates, with 200 local organizations, 45 national unions and a membership that runs the social scale of the continent.

Names Leaders of Move.

The names of William Z. Foster, professional radical; Alexander Howat, deposed head of mine workers in Kansas; J. B. McLaughlin, ousted leader of the recent strike in Nova Scotia, and Roger Baldwin, executive secretary of the American Civil Liberties union, figure prominently throughout the alleged expose.

American subsidiaries of the Moscow government are charged with having fomented the steel strike of 1919; the switchmen's strike of 1920; and with having aided in lining up railroad shop craft and soft coal miners for the prolonged struggle of last year, in an attempt to obtain possession of the unions during the strike and making them instruments for the furtherance of the Moscow program.

The Herrin massacre of non-union miners last year was blamed by authors of the articles upon groups of communist bodies centered at Chicago. Bombings, dynamitings, riotings and sabotage which marked the two big strikes last year also were laid at the door of the reds.

FLOTILLA GOES FIGHT ANGRY SEA FOR LIFE

Vessels of Squadron, Running in Formation, Literally Paraded to Catastrophe.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.
Santa Barbara, Cal., September 9.—Seven United States navy destroyers and the Pacific Mail liner Cuba were wrecked yesterday morning and last night, the navy vessels crashing on the rocks in a dense fog off Arguello light, 75 miles north of Santa Barbara, and the passenger steamer on a reef off the southeast end of San Miguel island, 35 miles off this port.

Twenty-five enlisted men of the destroyers lost their lives in the naval disaster and all the destroyers were reported as total losses.

The liner Cuba was reported to have sunk during the night, but all passengers and members of her crew either were landed at Los Angeles by the destroyer Reno or are on their way to San Francisco on board the Standard Oil tanker W. S. Miller, with the exception of Captain C. J. Holland, the purser, steward and eight seamen, who remained on board to guard a shipment of $2,500,000 in silver bullion.

Dense fog was the cause of both disasters.

The destroyers Chauncey, Woodbury, Fuller, S. P. Lee, Nicholas, Young and Delphy were all beached within a few minutes of one another, according to naval officers.

Trapped in Bunks.

The flotilla, of which the wrecked craft formed a part, was in command of Captain Edward Watson, commanding officer of the Delphy, and was on a practice cruise.

The dead were all trapped in their bunks on the Young when that vessel struck and were drowned when the craft capsized within two minutes after striking.

More than five hundred men were rescued from the wrecked destroyers, which tonight were reported to be pounding to pieces on the rocks, all total losses.

Of the survivors, 15 of the seriously injured were brought to the Santa Barbara county hospital. One hundred others were cut and bruised in their swim to safety over the jagged rocks. The destroyers were traveling in formation at 20 knots an hour in a heavy sea and dense fog when the leading vessel was wrecked.

Carried ahead by a strong tide, the others piled on the beach in succession. Lying in line along the shore at intervals of 250 feet, the boats today were slowly breaking up. One of them, the Chauncey, was resting high on the rocks.

Boatswain Is Hero.

The partial list of the dead, as officially announced, follows:

U. S. skipper, Joseph Slimake, Henry T. Kirk, Enrique Torres, Ben Schank, Taylor, Overshiner, Duncan, Ray H. Morris, John Young, C. F. Rogers and Conroy.

The body of Conroy was the only one recovered tonight. Efforts to obtain the others had been fruitless. The seas were running so heavy that it was only a few minutes after the crash that all of the destroyers were taking water.

The rescue of most of the crew of the Young were effected when Boatwain's Mate Peterson took a line overboard and swam with it to the Chauncey, fighting against the rough sea and strong tides.

Peterson reached the Chauncey exhausted.

With the line secured between the two ships, all remaining members of the crew made their way ashore, as

Luis Firpo Will Use Own Weapons

ANSWERS CRITICS WHO GIVE HIM LITTLE CHANCE

Finds Moral in Parable of Jungle

(From Luis Angel Firpo, as Told to William Slavens McNutt.)

Atlantic City, N. J., September 9.—(Special.)—Today I will tell a little story in the way one speaks for children. Once upon a time in a jungle there was a tiger and a lion and a bear. He fought so well with his teeth and claws that all the other beasts were afraid of him. All but one, at least. There was in this jungle a huge elephant who was also a great fighter. The elephant did not fight with teeth and claws because, of course, he had no teeth and claws. He fought by using his trunk as an arm with which to crush his foes, and by kneeling upon his enemies.

The tiger had a very clever animal in the jungle but the elephant, and the elephant had defeated every one but the tiger. So then the tiger said he would beat the elephant and the elephant said he would beat the tiger, and they began to train to fight each other.

In the jungle was an old gray monkey who had never fought anybody and who would never have been able to fight even had he had the courage to try. But all his life he had sat in the treetops and watched the other animals fight and it was said of him that he had closely observed so many battles that he was very wise.

When the lion jumped for the deer and missed, the monkey could tell him what was wrong with his spring, and when the deer tried to dodge the lion and slipped, the monkey could tell the deer's relatives what had been wrong with the footwork.

Tiger Sought Advice.
This monkey who could not fight became a beast of great reputation, and all those who could fight well and wished to know how to fight better went to him and gave him comments to teach them tricks. So when the tiger began to train to fight the elephant he went to the monkey for advice.

"You might be a great fighter," said the monkey, "if you would only change your method. Do not use your teeth in crushing the life from them. If you kneel on the elephant properly you will surely kill him."

Then the elephant came to the monkey and asked advice, and the monkey said: "Get someone to gnaw off your toenails until they are like the tiger's claws and make use of them to scratch, and then, too, instead of kneeling on your foes as you have done in the past, try to bring them, and some day you may amount to something as a fighter."

So the tiger practiced kneeling and the elephant practiced biting. I do not know what happened when they fought, but I am sure it must have been a funny combat. Perhaps if Dempsey were to listen to his critics and I were to listen to mine, the fight at the Polo Grounds would be very funny also. Who knows?

Maybe it is not a very good fable, but I have told you; but it teaches me one thing; that it is better for the elephant to fight like the elephant and for the tiger to fight like a tiger.

I am Luis Angel Firpo, and if I am to win then I must fight like myself, and not try to do it like some one who is not Luis Angel Firpo. If I shall lose then it will be because Luis Firpo, at his best, cannot win and not because Luis is foolish and tried to be some sort of a person he is not. I may be a tiger, but I am not a Luis who listens too long to the chattering of gray monkeys in the trees.

Use Own Methods.
I think it is always best that a man who fights for a living should use his fists in the ring to answer the questions of his critics who are not living. But they ask me that I say something in answer to the many critics who write that I am sure to meet defeat because I cannot defeat myself. I will answer that by asking the critics which man was hit often by Willard, myself or Floyd Johnson? Those who know will tell you that Willard hit Johnson more often than he hit Luis Firpo. Johnson is a fast man and a good boxer so they say. Why then was Willard able to hit him more often than I? The answer is the boxing critics forget that when an army fights it is said that the best defense is a good offense. Even the men who like me the least admit that I have something to show in the way of offense. Who knows?

I would ask too that my friends remember the time a long while ago when a slender young man from San Francisco was matched to meet the great John L. Sullivan. The slender young man, Corbett, was the name. He did not box the way the critics at that time said a man should box if he would defeat Sullivan. No, he boxed in the way he thought to be best for him and every one said that it was funny to think he could defeat the giant heavyweight with such soft tapping blows. But Corbett won in his own way and became the founder of a new school of prize fighters.

Now I come with my own way of fighting which is perhaps the way Sullivan fought.
I don't say beforehand that I shall surely have the success that was the portion of Corbett, but if I win by hard smashing blows and make an offense my defense I do say that the boxing world will not be more astonished than at that time long ago when John L. Sullivan sank beaten to the canvas under the slower blows from the slender young man who could not hit hard enough to hurt a grown man, according to the critics, and who was given no chance to win by the experts who now deny that I can gain the victory.

PRISON TEAM IS DEFEATED

BY M. D. GLEASON.

Perrin's Athletics won from the federal prison by a score of 3 to 0 in a well-planned game inside the big wall yesterday. The game was held at the end of the eighth, as the prisoners always stop at 4 o'clock when the play of the inside.

While most of the 2,700 prisoners are loyal rooters and want the Commodore Feds—as they call them—to win, they also very fairly have fought the entire route and was called at the end of the eighth, as the prisoners always stop at 4 o'clock when the play of the inside.

The Athletics got one run in the third, when D. T. Cannon got on first on an error by the pitcher, and then on a home run by the pitcher, driving Cy Hawkins in ahead of him.

The fielding of the Athletics was perfect, not an error being made and the work of Nolan Richardson was exceptionally good, two of his plays being quick recoveries of balls that had been intercepted by true pitcher, Richardson, grabbing the time to get the men at first. Blackstock hit well again, getting three out of four.

Johnnie Calvey played a nice game at short for the Feds, his fast work cutting off several runs. The good brand of ball these clubs play is always sure to please those who see them in action.

Many Big Sporting Events Set for Legion Delegates

Charlie Paddock and Other Internationally Known Athletes Will Be on Hand for Convention.

San Francisco, September 9.—(Special.)—Charlie Paddock, the "human flail," will defend his laurels in all sports up to the 440-yard dash at the athletic meet to be held during the American Legion's national convention in San Francisco, October 15-19, it has been announced by the convention's athletic committee.

Paddock, who is scheduled to return to his home in Pasadena within the next two weeks, will start training at once for the legion meet, which has been called the "American Olympiad." He hopes to smash some of his present world's records.

In addition to the track and field contest, there will be numerous other athletic events during convention week at San Francisco, including tennis, baseball, basketball, football, golf, rifle shoot, hand sports, swimming and other sports.

Entries for all events are being received with the American Legion national convention committee, Palace hotel, San Francisco. All legionnaires are eligible to compete in the athletic program.

Many Ring Stars.
When members of the legion gather in San Francisco they will see a number of former ring champions in action.

Willie Ritchie, former world's champion lightweight boxer, has consented to appear in an exhibition boxing match at a "high links" entertainment that is to be an important event upon the program. Ritchie contemplates re-entering the boxing ring in the near future and hopes to obtain a match with Benny Leonard, the present champion. Ritchie was a friend to thousands of men who received their wartime training at Camp Lewis, Washington, and is still in correspondence with many of them.

Another former champion who has offered his services to the convention committee, is Jimmie Britt who was defeated many years ago by Battling Nelson. Britt is now a prosperous business man in San Francisco, and has identified himself with all activities and entertainment programs for disabled and wounded veterans.

The "high links" show will be held in the large civic auditorium and will consist of twenty high-class acts. These in charge expect to entertain a crowd of from 20,000 to 25,000 legion members.

To Set School Record.
Juliette, Ga., September 9.—(Special.)—The fourth school will open Monday, September 17, with the largest attendance in their history.

The buildings are being overhauled and grounds improved. Several more teachers will be secured for the high school department and facilities in all departments of the school will be increased. The Juliette High school and other schools of Monroe county will open on September 17.

About 70 electric meter men, from some 50 Wisconsin cities, annually attend the meter school conducted by the Wisconsin College of Engineering.

BRUINS GAIN ON PELICANS

Memphis, Tenn., September 9.—The Mobile Bears gained on Larry Gilbert's league leading New Orleans team during the past week's play in the Southern association but were given a setback today when the Pelicans were taking a double header from Little Rock while the Bears were losing to Memphis.

The Bears won eight out of the ten games played, the figures including today's contest. The double victory for the Pelicans today gave them a week's record of six victories, three defeats and one tie game in the ten games played.

Birmingham, in third place, lost six of nine games, including today's. Memphis, winning four and losing one, displaced Nashville from the first division, the Volunteers being in first place tonight with Atlanta, Chattanooga and Little Rock following in the order named.

Mobile's week was marked by heavy hitting and fast fielding. In the nine games played up to Saturday night, the Bears drove out 61 hits, for 62 runs and made but 10 errors—the week's best showing in hitting and fielding. In eight games, New Orleans made 46 hits and 16 runs, but the Pelicans' pitching staff displays no sign of weakening after the hard season and held opposing teams to 14 runs.

Nashville's severe reverse is reflected partially in the fact that the Volunteers, leading the league in team batting for the season, suffered a slump in this respect. Nashville pitchers yielded 33 runs in games up to Saturday night.

Latest available figures on team batting give Nashville the leadership

FIRST WINNER IN BIG RACE

LaGrange Club Meets Defeat

Eleven members of LaGrange's golf club were guests of the Ansley Park golf club Sunday and carried back home with them the memory of delightful hospitality and a crushing defeat in the inter-team matches. Scoring on the Nassau system for two eighteen-hole rounds, the Trousdale county sportsmen were able only to account for a single point.

The visit of the LaGrange golfers followed a visit of a coterie of Ansley Park golfers to their club two weeks ago, when the team matches then played resulted in a victory for Ansley Park, though by a much closer score. Culpepper and Lallier, of the visitors, had the honor of winning the single point scored by their club; and this honor was all the more appreciated since it was achieved at the expense of Ben Jones, the new city champion, and Warren Grande. They brought in the local players one down in the morning round. In the afternoon, however, the tables were turned, due largely to the 72 shot by Grande, who had a 69 in sight through sixteen, but fell away slightly on the final two holes.

A delightful luncheon was served to the guests at noon, tables being spread, picnic style, under the loggia.

Silk cocoon production in China will be increased 90 per cent, it is estimated, if only healthy eggs which have passed the regulation tests were used.

RECEIPTS OF COTTON IN CALHOUN DROP

Empire, Ga., September 9.—(Special.)—The cotton warehouses of Cochran have received 9 bales of cotton of this year's crop up to September 1, compared with 736 bales last year to same date, a decrease of 727 bales.

J. W. Coffroth Is Planning Raise of Handicap's Value

Exterminator May Be Given Golden Opportunity to Step to Front of Winners of All Time.

New York, September 9.—(Special.)—James W. Coffroth's decision to raise the value of the Coffroth handicap, a gallop of one mile and a quarter of the Tijuana winter racing program from $30,000 to $40,000 in added money, and of the Tijuana cup, a gallop of two miles from $30,000 to $40,000, also, in added money, offers to Willis Sharpe Kilmer, the owner of Exterminator, an opportunity to put America's greatest distance running gelding of all time in front of the thoroughbred money winners of all time Mr. Kilmer will try not to neglect.

With a record of 15 wins in 16 races, Reubens' share was $30,475. The owner of the second horse got $4,000, of the third $2,250, of the fourth $1,250. This total of $30,975 was independent of a gratuity to Henry McDaniel, the trainer of the winner. The value of the Tijuana cup renewed April 8, with nine competing and William Daniel's Lighter was $6,525.

If Exterminator had gone west for last renewals of the Coffroth handicap and cup and fronted them as he might easily have done under 135 or 140 pounds seeing that Reubens and Lighter were the most formidable horses he would have had a great deal to show for his efforts.

Reubens was the leading money winner of American racing, with $280,206 to his credit. When, in the early autumn of 1922, Mr. Coffroth, the genius of Tijuana racing, announced the Coffroth handicap as a $30,000 added money race, Mr. Kilmer decided he was better off in by the amount of the handicap than by the amount of the Tijuana cup and the $10,000 Pimlico cups and at Bowie in the inaugural as a $10,000 added money race of the Thanksgiving handicap.

Exterminator did not make the projected trip because in training for Pimlico races he injured himself galloping over a slightly muddy track and became lame for the first time in his long and eminently useful career. He had to be put by with a total in earnings of $244,206 to his credit as against the American Man-o-War's $249,405 and $291,275 and $277,215, respectively, for the English flyers, Isinglass and Donorau.

Added to Winnings.
At Havre de Grace in April, Old Bones, coming back as good as new, apparently, added to his earnings $400 by finishing third to Blazes and Careful in a renewal of the Harford handicap, the 1922 revival of which he won, $3,250 by winning the Philadelphia and $500 by finishing second in the Old Dominion, bringing the total to $248,450—just $1,000 short of the earning record of Man o' War.

General Manager Edward Burke, of the Harford Agricultural and Breeding association, tried to help Exterminator to the American record by making the value of the Old Dominion $2,500—$1,800 to the winner. Old Bones could not make the grade. The Old Dominion was run Saturday, April 28. Exterminator had 132 pounds in the saddle, and Harry Payne Whitney's Chickvale had 121. On a sloppy track and in steady downpour of rain Chickvale had a length on Exterminator at the turn in the homestretch. Albert Johnson, who was desperately the last quarter, but Chickvale lasted to win by the shortest of appreciable margins, a nose. Exterminator was lame before the finish of the Old Dominion and could not go to Pimlico to start in the $5,000 Spring handicap, in the 1922 revival of which he had shouldered 133 pounds to Boniface's 125 and was ticked by that fast and courageous son of Transvaal and Cerina. Nor has he started since.

Exterminator could not possibly be gotten ready for first renewal of the $25,000 Washington handicap at Laurel park, in the inaugural of which he fell he was beaten by Oceanic, Lucky Hour and Paragon, or the $50,000 Kentucky special, a gallop of one mile and three sixteenths for three-year-olds and over General Manager Matt J. Winn, of the Kentucky Jockey club, will inaugurate at Latonia in October. Training him for the Coffroth and the Tijuana cup, neither of which will be run before the last week of next March, however, will be another and an easier matter.

Exterminator is going sound again. He is not too high in flesh. He never carried too much avoidpoids, although he has always been a generous doer. He is, moreover, in the hands of John I. Smith, as capable a horseman as any of his previous handlers, although Henry McDaniel, J. Cal Milam, William McDaniel, William Hinton, Eugene Wayland and Willis Sharpe Kilmer, were and are trainers of the first class.

As a $40,000 added money race the Coffroth, next March, will undoubtedly attract more nominations than the last Coffroth drew. The revival of racing at San Francisco will take many good horses to the coast and these will go to Tijuana after the Tanforan meeting. More eastern horses than have in the past taken part at Tijuana in winter racing will ship direct from Maryland and Kentucky to San Diego. The program advertised by Mr. Coffroth is too attractive to be ignored.

The Winner's Share.
The expectation of Mr. Coffroth that subscriptions, forfeits and starting fees limped with the $40,000 added money will bring the gross value of his coming great handicap to $50,000 or more, and the winner's share to $40,000 or $42,000, is not unreasonable. The Tijuana cup will attract about the same number of nominations as the Coffroth handicap and the gross value should be $10,000 at the least. Winning renewals of these attractive races Exterminator would return east with $288,000 to $300,000 to his credit. He would have set a world's record of earnings that, probably, would stand for many years. The French horse, Ksar, retired last

RING BATTLE POSTPONED

Due to a misunderstanding regarding dates, the ten round boxing bout between Joey Fox, England's featherweight champion, and Lew Silver, contender for titular honors of that division, has been postponed until Monday, September 24.

When negotiating for Fox's services with Charles Harvey, of New York, the matchmaker of the One Hundred and Eighth Cavalry anticipated bringing the two stars together on Wednesday but as the auditorium was not available for that date, he made arrangements to stage the show at Spiller's bowl on Friday.

Telegraphing the change of date to Harvey, a reply was received to the effect that Fox was scheduled to box in Indianapolis on September 5, and inasmuch as the boxing rules of that city require a boxer to be on the scene of the conflict forty-eight hours before he enters the ring, Harvey was unable to accept the new date and, but has agreed to the postponement and the contest will be staged at the auditorium.

PLAN RACING AT LAKEWOOD

Plans are under way for one of the greatest racing programs ever staged at Lakewood during the Southeastern fair, which will be held from October 6 to 13.

The races will bring out some of the fastest horses ever entered here and there will be a wide variety of the races held, harness and running. According to the plans now on foot there will be three big races each day during a fair and a purse of $400 will be placed at the disposal of the winners. One running race a day is the present outlook.

The entries will close September 26. The program follows:
Monday, October 8—2:15 pacing, 2:00 trotting, 2:20 pacing.
Tuesday, October 9—2:00 pacing, 2:15 trotting, 2:24 pacing.
Wednesday, October 10—2:15 pacing, free-for-all pacing, 2:11 trotting, 2:11 pacing, 2:24 pacing.
Thursday, October 11—2:07 trotting, 2:11 pacing, 2:24 pacing.
Friday, October 12—2:00 trotting, 2:18 pacing, 2:13 trotting.
Saturday, October 13—2:18 trotting, 2:07 pacing. Free-for-all trotting.

season after a brilliant career with a paper record of $320,000 in earnings. But Ksar's winnings were reckoned in francs at the pre-war value of the franc. Likely he earned about $130,000.

Exterminator is entitled to race for the winner's share of $30,000 purse, at least once. The biggest he has striven for so far has been the Washington handicap prize of $25,000. Although he has a Kentucky derby, four Saratoga cups, three Toronto Autumn cups, one Ontario Club cup, one Latonia cup, a Kentucky and a Clark handicap purse to his credit he has done his toiling mostly in races of small value, $5,000 to $10,000 to the winner. The biggest purse he ever won was the Kentucky derby purse of 1918, $14,200. His last Toronto Autumn cup paid $12,000. Colonel Winn offered $50,000 for a special between Exterminator and Man o' War in the autumn of 1920 after the victory of Man o' War over Sir Barton in the $50,000 Kentucky park gold cup at Windsor, but Samuel D. Riddle did not care to race his brilliant Fair Play, 3-year-old, against the tireless McDoe gelding, then a 5-year-old. Besides this, Exterminator has won the Pimlico race for $15,040 in the Lawrence realization renewal and $23,000 in his Freshness. Among the eleven races he has won to establish his world's earning record of $291,275 there were several purses of $35,000 to $40,000. Man o' War and Isinglass raced only a couple of seasons each. Exterminator has raced through six full seasons and part of a seventh.

BLUE BOAR

English Blend Cigarettes

A New Cigarette

—a new blend

A 19 year development resulting in a remarkable discovery. A rare delight for critical smokers. Now on sale everywhere.

At a time when cigarettes have apparently reached their limit of perfection comes a surprising discovery, a new-type cigarette, very distinctive.

As all men know, wonderful progress has been made in cigarette making. There are many excellent brands, many favorites. Blending has reached an art.

To the credit, yet despair of experts, no outstanding achievement has seemed possible lately. Each smoker has become content with his favorite cigarette—and no one has been expecting an entirely different, unusual blend.

But suddenly out of perfection, as a 19 year recompense, comes a wonder-blend, exclusive, superfine.

Its pedigree

We call this new cigarette Blue Boar because it is developed from America's favorite fine tobacco, Blue Boar Pipe Mixture.

For 19 years its tobaccos have been the finest obtainable—eight rare types of the choicest American, Turkish and Egyptian. Here was no chance for betterment.

The secret of this new-type cigarette is in a newly discovered method of blending. This may sound commonplace to men who have felt that the limit of refinement had been reached, but you will be as surprised as others when you smoke your first pack of Blue Boars.

Blue Boar tobacco is TRIPLY blended.

The ordinary process is but a single blending, which now seems crude. Yet for years experts have considered one blending sufficient, and have searched elsewhere for refinements.

In Blue Boar we blend the two American tobaccos separately. Likewise the five Turkish. Then we give the Latakia from Egypt a mellowing treatment. Each tobacco develops its finest characteristics. A third and final blending insures a rare and distinctive combination, such as you've never known before. The old way never could bring such perfection.

It is a costlier, slower process—but worth it as you'll agree. The result of this simple discovery makes all the difference in the world—an entirely new taste, a refinement of all refinements.

Your decision, please

Blue Boar Cigarettes are now on the market and already over 500,000 men have shown this triple blending their enthusiastic preference.

We ask you to sample this unusual cigarette. Learn why it is causing so much comment. Note its distinct flavor, its surprising and agreeable difference from any cigarette you have ever smoked before. Compare triple blending with the ordinary.

Buy one pack of Blue Boars. We promise you a delightful surprise. You'll undoubtedly adopt Blue Boars as your final-type favorite—and never switch again.

CHAPTER LXIII.
A Fairweather Friend.

The trip back to New York was such a contrast to the journey up into the hills that Gloria could hardly believe that she had not dreamt the first one. Worried as she had been, she had enjoyed it. And now she was going back to New York with everything in a worse muddle than it had been when she left town the day before.

Larry had engaged a man at the nearest garage to drive the car back for him, and since they took the train had spent most of his time somewhere out in the car with the two men who had accompanied Mrs. Baker.

Mrs. Baker settled down in her corner of the seat for a nap, and Gloria was staring out of the window, wondering what turn affairs would take next, when Larry came into the compartment.

"How's everything?" he asked as he sat down beside her. "Not worrying, are you?"

"It's going to be simple enough to prove that we had no hand in kidnapping the youngster—we can prove an alibi easy. Mine's all fixed—I've just got to line up the men who were with me when the youngster was taken. Where were you?"

"In the afternoon?" Gloria paused to think for a moment. "Why, I had luncheon alone, on the Biltmore roof, and then I went shopping a bit, and came home, and Frank Carver phoned from Mrs. Baker's arms. A lump rose in Gloria's throat as she saw the yellow-haired youngster born away by his father; she had learned to care for the baby even in the short time that she had him with her.

When she reached the hotel she called Frank Carver at once; Larry had urged that she do that before he went downtown with the detectives to establish his own alibi. As she sat at the telephone waiting to get the connection she looked about her; never had the little apartment seemed more attractive than it did now. She had been very happy in the carefree life that she had led with Valerie, whatever her faults, had been so good to her; she knew that despite the fact that Virginia was her cousin, she had received a warmer affection from this woman upon whom she had no claim but that of friendship. It seemed incredible that she would ever again see Valerie come trailing across the room in one of the low-cut evening gowns that became her so well, or breakfast across the table from a remarkably childish looking Valerie, with blonde hair tumbling about her shoulders and a sea-green negligee tossed over her gorgette pajamas. There were tears in her eyes when the clicking of the phone drew her attention back to the business in hand.

"Hello—this is Gloria Chase," she said, waiting till Carver's voice replied, and then went on to tell her story to him. She was silent while he answered, then burst into explanations so vehement that Larry turned to her in surprise. There was another brief silence, and then she hung up the receiver and faced him with blazing eyes. Frank Carver had made it clear that he was not interested.

"He doesn't want to have anything to do with me, even to help me, if I'm mixed up in a thing like this kidnapping case—he made that perfectly plain," she told Larry. "Oh, he had a lot of excuses, of course—just flimsy ones—for not coming up here and telling the truth about phoning me—he felt that he'd too important and too much in the public eye to have the papers link him up any way with the affair. Isn't that horrid of him? I suppose it's just what I should have expected, but I never knew of anyone's acting so about anything."

"There are a lot of things you don't know about human nature, my dear," commented Mrs. Baker. "Now, you go to your own room and get some sleep, and don't worry—this thing'll come out all right."

Gloria went to her bedroom, drooping with weariness, trying to conquer the anger that Frank Carver had aroused.

"That's all a man's love is worth!" she told herself, despondently. "It's all right till you have to depend on it, and then it crumbles all to pieces. I hate me!"

4003. It will take but a few moments to adjust this trim and comfortable garment. One could make it of figured percale with a finish of rick rack—or feather edge—braid. The closing is at the side under the facing. In black sateen with crepe in a pretty shade of yellow with bands of white, it makes a smart "tea" frock.

The pattern is cut in 4 sizes. Small, 34-36; medium, 38-40; large, 42-44; extra large, 46-48 inches bust measure. A medium size requires 4 1/4 yards of 36-inch material. The width at the foot is about 2 1/2 yards.

What Women Wear

BY ANNE RITTENHOUSE

There Are Aprons On the New Frocks That May Be Used as Paletots Instead.

We think of transformation frocks and reversible wraps as something quite modern. Likewise we regard prestidigitator furniture as something characteristic of the twentieth century—Chestersfields that are beds by night, dressing tables that fold up with all the appurtenances of the toilet and serve for little incidental tables when need be, refrigerators that do duty as kitchen tables, and so on.

But really and truly this double-service idea is as old as the hills both in frocks and furniture. The bed of the middle ages served as settee and lounge by day, and the doughty knight never needed a drinking cup so long as he had his helmet. Convertible frocks of some sort or other were quite usual in the middle ages and the Renaissance period. There were lined tunics and wraps that could be worn either side up and the good wife usually wore overskirts that could be worn full and long in the street and looped up, fish-wife fashion, when there was work to be done—thus getting rid of clumsy fullness and length at the ankles and protecting the outside of the skirt from wear and spotting.

The habit of some of the religious orders of the present day retains this overskirt that may be looped up, long sleeves that may be turned down to keep the hands warm in cold weather or turned back to give greater freedom.

Convertible frock with apron that can be worn as cape.

dom indoors—details all that were commonplaces in women's costumes in the day when these religious orders were founded.

So the reversible wraps and transformation frocks devised by the French dressmakers at the present are merely revivals. In recent collections shown in Paris Bechoff had many of these. There was a reversible coat with one side black velvet and the other covered by upholstery galloon as well as his much-talked-of apron frock—the apron of which may be used as a little sleeveless paletot, the pocket slits serving as armholes. One such frock was made of black satin embroidered in gold, blue and lacquer red with bandings of seal. The paletot-apron is of the black satin similarly trimmed.

Then there are scarf frocks—the scarf to be used as a sort of gayer sash or knotted around the neck. The large decorative handkerchief flowing with studied negligence from the pocket of one of the new navy blue coat frocks may be quickly and easily converted into a knotted neckerchief when a cool breeze blows.

The HOUSEHOLD

Edited by Anne Rittenhouse

AS YOU SLEEP.

It's an old, old saying that sleep before midnight is worth so much more than sleep afterwards. If you sleep from nine to five in the morning you will be much more benefited than if you sleep from eleven until seven—that at least is the idea.

This is such an old, old saying that one hesitates to deny it absolutely, but the fact is that doctors scoff at the idea and actual experience shows no superior advantage of ante-midnight sleeping.

It is what we do when we sit up late, not the mere sitting up late, that seems to be the source of the apprehension. If we do not get to bed until midnight one night in the week it probably means that we have been gadding, and that is fatiguing even when we make up lost sleep. Whereas if we retire at nine or ten the chances are that we have spent the early evening sitting quietly at home.

Night air used to be regarded as baneful.

Some doctor pointed out that though outdoor air at night was perhaps less wholesome than daytime air, it was the only kind of air we had after dark. At any rate it was preferable to indoor night air.

However, the old-fashioned folk who insist that it is harmful to open windows in sleeping rooms at night, because of the bad effects of night air, had reason for their prejudice. The prejudice grew up in malarial regions when screening of bedroom windows was rare or inadequate. If the windows were left open malarial mosquitoes were apt to come in laden with the cursed disease. It was natural enough to think that the malarial symptoms had been breathed into the system with the damp night air.

Brilliant Marble.

After scrubbing marble, pour a little floor polish on it and then rub with a soft clean cloth. A brilliant polish will be the result.

When Dyeing.

Strips about ten inches long, tacked to the material to be dyed, are very handy to hang over the edge and serve as handles to turn the material. Then you know you have turned each one and the dye is evenly distributed.

For the Autumn Bride.

What could be a better gift for the prospective bride as an engagement present than a market basket containing a jar of each preserve or jelly used up during the summer? Save your attractive pots and glasses for this purpose.

Absorbs the Grease.

I never fail to have a piece of brown paper close to the stove when frying any article deep in fat. Then as soon as they are the desired brown, lift from the fat with a perforated spoon and place on the brown paper to drain. The paper will absorb every bit of fat and the platter will go to the table greaseless and appetizing.

dom indoors—details all that were commonplaces in women's costumes in the day when these religious orders were founded.

So the reversible wraps and transformation frocks devised by the French dressmakers at the present are merely revivals. In recent collections shown in Paris Bechoff had many of these. There was a reversible coat with one side black velvet and the other covered by upholstery galloon as well as his much-talked-of apron frock—the apron of which may be used as a little sleeveless paletot, the pocket slits serving as armholes. One such frock was made of black satin embroidered in gold, blue and lacquer red with bandings of seal. The paletot-apron is of the black satin similarly trimmed.

Then there are scarf frocks—the scarf to be used as a sort of gayer sash or knotted around the neck. The large decorative handkerchief flowing with studied negligence from the pocket of one of the new navy blue coat frocks may be quickly and easily converted into a knotted neckerchief when a cool breeze blows.

BEAUTY CHATS

INEXPENSIVE POWDERS.

There is no special secret in the production of face and toilet powders, nor is a great deal of care necessary in making them. The best face powders are so exceedingly fine that only complicated machinery can produce the basic ingredients, but fortunately for the woman who must be economical these ingredients can be bought separately for less money than the addressed envelope repeating your request.

Fifti: Consult a doctor about your hands swelling up over night.

Grace: The formula you sent me shows that it was put together in order to sell one of the ingredients, which is a hair dye; however, you should have known that as the formula must have stated that it was an advertisement. As new hair grows out from the scalp, the natural shade of your hair will return. The dyed part will grow lighter in shade.

Tomorrow—Answered Letters.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Forbes, in care of the "Beauty Chats" department, will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question.—The Editor.

Infantry to Start March to Fort Here On Tuesday Morning

Anniston, Ala., September 9.—(Special).—Companies of the 22nd infantry, which have been stationed at Camp McClellan during the summer encampments, will break camp and begin the hike back to their permanent station at Fort McPherson Tuesday morning. The soldiers will proceed south as far as Oxford and turn east there to march into Fort City in the eastern part of Calhoun county, where the direct route to the Georgia fort will be resumed.

The Sixth Cavalry is expected to begin its overland trip to Fort Oglethorpe next week and will probably follow the example of the infantrymen and stage a parade through Anniston. Units of the Eighth Cavalry will make the trip back to Fort Moultrie, S. C., by rail, according to the schedule now mapped out at camp headquarters.

Came back from Europe and wrote an article.

Herbert Hoover

Wrote to him: "Your article, 'How Can Europe Be Saved?' I have read with very great interest. I wish every man in America could be made to read it."

John F. Sinclair has written a new series of articles.

"Can Europe Hold Together?"

They will appear, exclusively in this city, in The Constitution, starting Friday, September 14.

They make Europe's problems plain. They give you a picture of civilization's plight in terms as simple as a description of a runaway horse. They show you the world today—the world of which you are a part. It's plain. Clear. Simple.

"Beauty Specials"—street cars especially privileged to carry Atlanta's far-famed pretty girls from their homes to the Girls' High school—will resume their operation this morning. It was announced by officials of the Georgia Railway and Power company, and it takes no stretch of the imagination to see motorcars and conductors struggling for these choice assignments.

The cars will run their regular routes until they reach a convenient downtown point and from there will carry their precious cargoes of femininity right past the Girls' High school, so that a maximum of convenience will be available for the students at this institution.

Will Make Additions. The schedules announced below will be supplemented as occasion warrants, according to officers of the company. The lines on which the "beauty specials" will be run and the time at which they will leave the end of the line are given, so that prospective passengers may compute the time they will leave the stop nearest their homes.

A car inbound on Whitehall will leave Beecher street at 7:40 o'clock, arriving at the school at 8:10.

On Ponce de Leon, a special will leave Ponce de Leon and Boulevard at 7:50, arriving at the school at 8:15.
